Sixth Sunday of Easter

May 22, 2022

Today's lessons:

Acts 16:9-15

A vision causes the apostle Paul to go from Asia Minor (now Turkey) to Macedonia (the north of Greece), bringing the gospel to Europe for the first time. The first to lend an ear to his message is the purple merchant Lydia.

Psalm 67

God is asked to make his justice and mercy known among all peoples on earth.

Revelation 21:10, 22-22:5

The prophet John has a vision of a new Jerusalem, where people from all nations come to live in the presence of God.

John 14:23-29

Jesus promises his disciples that although he will now go to God, the Father, he will send them the Holy Spirit – as a kind of substitute teacher!

Agnus Day

by James Wolstein

YES - THE SPIRIT TESTIFIES OF JESUS SCHOOLS HIS DISCIPLES.

CAN I SKIP DIFFERENTIAL CALCULUS? I'VE NEVER REALLY LIKED MATH.

Keep my words!

That Jesus' disciples have to let their master go, does not mean that they lose his teachings. They have his words and also support for deciphering them. How about you? Can you decipher what Jesus said?

CAN'T YOU SEE IT ?

Do you need a special revelation or are you able to find all the details of John's vision of the City of God?

Crossing Over

Going to Europe and doing some missionary work in Greece sounds like a really cool summer project for Paul and his travel companions. If only they wouldn't have to deal with those weird Greek names!

Can you help them to get the names straight?!
